Board Votes To Convert Unit Into Strictly Charity Ward; Abolishes Position Held by Dr. Fike; "Pay" Patients Barred.

COMMITTEE HEAD TO FIGHT CHANGE

Murphy Assails Action as "Vindictive"; Opposition to Plan by Steiner Trustee Is Indicated,

F. D. R. MAY FIX Steiner cancer clinic was converted into a unit of Grady hospital as a strictly charity clinic Wednesday afternoon by the board of trustees of Grady hospital and the position occupied by Dr. Rupert H. Fike abolished as "unnecessary," the duties of the physician in charge being transferred to Dr. Joseph H. Hines, medi cal director of Grady.

Ignoring the trustees of the Stein er unit and also a special council committee, headed by Alderman J. Charlie Murphy, the Grady board, itself established by a vote of the Atlanta council, took its drastic action at a time when Murphy's committee was attempting to compose differences between Grady and Steiner trustees.

The order of the Grady group provides that no pay patients shall be admitted. The pay patient question, long a controversial point between Grady trustees and members of the Fulton County Medical Society, on the one hand, and the Steiner trustees, on the other, thus appeared to have been settled, at least tempo-

BRILLIANT LAWYER SHOOTS SELF DEAD

Long Suffering From Arthritis Given as Reason for Act; Was "Daddy" of Southern Golf.

Lowry Arnold, 63, prominent Atlanta attorney and president of the Southern Golf Association, shot and killed himself at about 7:45 o'clock Wednesday night at his residence in the Pershing Point apartments, Murphy Assails Action.

Murphy greeted action of the Grady board "as an attempt to destroy Steiner" and the firing of Fike as "an act of vindictiveness."

"The action of the Grady board in proceeding to the extremity to which it did is an indication that it will not stop at anything short of destruction of the Steiner ward." Murphy said.

"As Johnson today and set down to quick hearings.

Mayor Key Seeks To Legalize 3.2 Beer Manufacture Here

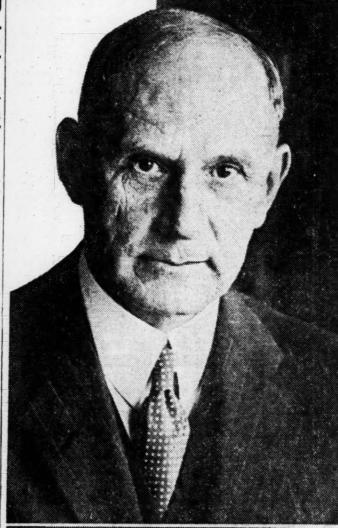

Mayor James L. Key Wednesday may wholesale and retail beer, but launched a drive to relieve unemployment in Atlanta and to keep Atlanta capital in Georgia when he agreed to go to Washington next week to seek a permit for manufacture of 3.2 beer here by the Atlanta Ice & Bottling Company.

Another angle to the drive is that the city, through the Albert Steiner cancer ward of Grady hospital, would receive 50 per cent of the profits of such sales, since the Steiner estate owns half of the stock of the company.

Joseph H. Hirsch, vice president and general manager of the brewery, also is one of the trustees of the Steiner will. He told the mayor that he had made futile attempts to procure a permit to make 3.2 beer for distribution locally.

Key baraded the situation here as intolerable, saying that Atlantans

"Jobless" Bootleggers New Challenge to U.S.

Charles Francis Coe, Noted Criminologist, Places Problem Before Nation and Sees Aroused Public Opinion as Solution.

With the bootlegger on his way out as impending repeal cuts away his revenue from liquor, a new crisis of crime threatens the United States. Where will the bootlegger, accustomed to easy riches, turn to now? Is the bootlegger of yesterday the kidnapper of today? Charles Francis Coe, criminologist, writer of special articles on crime, author of "Me-Gang-ster," "Swag," "Hooch" and other stories, discusses and analyzes the situation and points to its solution in a series of three articles, of which this is the first. The second will appear tomorrow.

By CHARLES FRANCIS COE.

Uncle Sam might very reasonably advertise, "Bootleggers For Sale." Not that they are saleable. It is simply that the good Uncle has a great many of the breed of which he soon must make some disposition.

The problem is not only real, it is acute. To understand it, and gather an idea about what must be done to solve it, we should analyze the bootlegger. We should know whence he came, determine whither He was, broadly speaking, a product of the prohibition era. That is, the "millionaire bootlegger" came with prohibition. Before that we always had the bootlegger. But he was a small timer. He was nothing but a tin horn tax evader. It is not exaggerating to say that the advent of prohibition saw the passing of this art of tax evading from the hands of the original mountaineer and dry county boolegger into the hands of others presumably more respectable.

But let no one tell you that prohibition made the gangster. America had gangsters just as vicious as present-day gangsters long before the dry era dawned as a national condition.

What prohibition did was to finance the gangster through making the small-time business of bootlegging a national industry. The notorious old "Hudson Dusters," of New York, were a gang. They plundered and pillaged; they fought and brawled. But they were constantly in trouble with the police. They served a goodly portion of their lives in the Power, Gas Executives Say Schedules Too Low To Produce "Fair Returns" on Investment.

Moving swiftly to complete answers to ouster charges against them, the five members of the Georgia public service commission Wednesday presented evidence to Governor Eugene Talmadge tending to show that they had protected the interests of the people at the expense of two of the state's largest public utilities, the Georgia Power Company and the Atlanta Gas Light Company.

Preston S. Arkwright, president of the Georgia Power Company, and W. W. Three Witnesses Heard.

The utility executives and O. E. Petry, secretary of the Georgia Federation of Labor, which, with the Atlanta Federation of Trades, is pushing the ouster action against the commissioners, were the three chief witnesses at Wednesday's session which were marked by the effort of Governor Talmadge to speed the proceedings to an early conclusion, the hearing now nearing the close of its third week with prospects for early completion of the testimony and evidence dimming hourly.

Epstein made his way to a police station a few hours later and told au-thorities the men had freed him, but held Factor prisoner.

A charge that the affair was a hoax, conflicting police reports, and reticence on the part of Factor's friends and relatives to accept police aid, complicated the investigation

Counsel for the British crown asserted Factor "staged" the abduction

This was indignantly denied by members of his family.

President Seeks Slight Change in Tariffs To Bolster Trade.

Argentina, Chile, Colombia, Brazil, Sweden and Norway are the nations already participating in the discussion and, in accordance with the chief executive's campaign declaration for reciprocal tariff agreements, other countries soon are to be added to the list.

Mr. Roosevelt's idea is to help other nations to sell their products here, thus building up credit with which to buy an equivalent value of American products. Through this process, it is hoped additional employment would be provided both here and abroad, with a consequent general business improvement.

Several questions of importance as illustrating the president's methods have arisen in the preliminary discussions with Ambassador Espil, of Argentina. extended into South Carolina its plan for a campaign for liquidating farm mortgages held by closed and restricted banks.

Henry Morgenthau Jr., governor of the farm credit administration, said machinery would be set up in the state within a short time. A large force of appraisers, he added, would be assigned for activities similar to those already ordered into effect in Wisconsin, Illinois and Iowa.

The decision to conduct the program was made after a conference between administration officials and J.

6. A list of the official stores giving Jinkys and Jinky receipts will be published in The Constitution each Monday, Wednesday and Saturday. You may ask for and get Jinkys and Jinky receipts any day in the week, but JINKYS MAY BE ENTERED IN THE CONTEST ONLY ON WEDNESDAYS, AT 137 PEACHTREE ARCADE.

7. Prizes will be awarded according to rules announced each Wednesday.

8. This week's contest will close promptly at 6:30 p. m. on Wednesday, May 24th, and winners' names for the week will be published in the following Sunday Constitution.

9. All Jinkys will be judged according to:

a. Oddity. b. Originality. c. Artistic Merit.

SUGGESTIONS: For this contest, small lacy figures are not as desirable as bold, easily recognized designs. Make your Jinkys so the judges will be attracted at once. Don't compel them to study out the design—in other words, make it odd, make it original, and make it as artistic as you can—BUT ABOVE ALL, MAKE IT. You have just as good a chance as anyone.

In Georgia's Fields and Streams

I recently had the privilege of ex- selves. amining a large series of hummingbirds in one of the finest museums in the world. The bird collection there, which was gathered for research purpicture never to be forgotten.

A recent statement on the status of the hummingbird family discloses the startling fact that there are over six hundred known and recognized varieties of hummers. Isu't it a pity, then, that the eastern United States can number only one species of hummingbird among its colorful bird life? The ruby-throated hummingbird is the only one that has extended its range into this section, and contrasted with some of the unbelievable Guatemalan species, is dull in color. In habits, however, it is one of the most intriguing species that we know of.

The nest of the hummingbird is one of the wonders of the natural world. It consists of a minute cup of plant down, covered outside with lichens which are held in place with spiderweb. Is that not a picture from the Never-Never Land? Can you imagine anything more dainty? There are always two eggs, about the size of large peas, and they hatch into awkward little nestlings in fourteen days. A fledgling hummer is comparable in size to a good-sized beetle.

The parent birds possess a temper all out of proportion with their small size. They have been known to attack, and actually drive away, inthe startling fact that there are over

Of this number, the hummingbirds, to me at least, were the most beautiful series.

There were hummingbirds there from everywhere that hummers are to be found, and the magnificent iridescent plumages, ranged in file on file of perfectly prepared specimens, made a picture will amply repay the small trouble that it will cost you.

"GREAT FRIEND LOST."

Bobby Jones' statement perhaps sums it up best.

"His character and his interests went into many spheres," said Bobby Jones, "but to golfers in the south and particularly to those in Atlanta, his passing is perhaps the most productive of sorrow. He gave much of his time and much of his life to golf. Perhaps no man did as much for the game in Atlanta as he. His character and the sweetness of his disposition endeared him to us all. It will be difficult to think of golf in Atlanta.

"He was patient, kind and considerate. He was patient, kind and considerate. He went about among us doing good. And that is the way we will remember him," concluded Big Bob Jones.

Dan and the youths' father all slept well last night in anticipation of the youngster's return today. At that time it was intimated that the family would pay $20,000 to the kidnapers, through one of the 19 intermediaries named at the kidnapers' demand, and that John Jr. would be left at an appointed place either in the Helderbergs or in the Catskill mountains southward. In these semi-official reports Dave Hotaling, well-known Albany man, was named as a satisfactory go-between for the O'Connells and 'Young John's' captors.

Most neurotics are poorly ished, either underweight or fat, anemic, physically feeble, of poo ogy. Neurasthenics or neurotics are poorly nourished because they're afraid. What they're afraid of is the big secret. Some neurotics—the crocks—will not tell. Others, the dumb ones, don't know—the origin of the fear is hidden in the subconciousness and it requires a skilled doctor to probe for it and bring it to the surface. News Behind the News By Paul Mallon.

WRINKLES WASHINGTON, July 12 .- There have been some here during the last few days. A certain large industry served notice privately that it does not intend to go into the industrial control setup. It has been running nearly 70 per cent of capacity. Large stocks have been stored up at low production costs.

Apparently it believes the government does not dare to step into its business. But even if the government does, the industry can sit back for a few months and sell the goods it has piled up. That does not make a very pretty picture. But it is not as dark as painted. It is more annoying than disturbing.

Busy officials would not have paid much attention if some disappointing statistics had not reached their eyes about the same time.

Department store sales were shown to be running under last year's. That is the most accurate index on buying power. It has accentuated what the officials have privately been fearing for weeks

-that buying is lagging further and further behind production.

That is why you saw Interior Secretary Ickes shoved into the public works job and told to spend all he could as fast as he could. Also why officials became so exasperated at the laggards holding out against the industrial control machinery which is designed primarily to bolster purchasing power. Those were only the first two steps. There will be others, CONFIDENCE A year ago such troubles might have caused apprehensions. They do not now. They merely point out the problem. Officials who must find the solution may have a few sleepless.

nights. No one else needs to. The underlying truth is that this administration has about as much power as there is on earth to meet its problems. It can take industrial giants by the ear and spank them like school children. It has billions ready to boost purchasing power.

Also, public psychology has been so far restored that it is no longer timid about difficulties arising from time to time. Therefore, those who have their feet on the ground are interested solely in seeing how the administration works itself out.

DEFLATION Strong inside pressure has been exerted to make President Roosevelt chart a new course. A certain amount of deflation has been advised. That weapon was used very effectively for the same purpose in the post-war period. It kept prices from going up too fast. It put a rein on the business

At least one influential party man has been trying to sell the scheme to the administration for use now. His long distance tele-phone calls have reached even to the White House. He believes it would be an effective club against industrial slackers.

The thing is, it is too dangerous. It may be displayed as a weapon but not seriously employed. Other more effective means of accomplishing the same results will be sought first.

DUTCH People are trying to spread the word around that No. 1 brain trustee, Professor Moley, is coming home from London a beaten man. They point to the current ascendency of State Secretary Hull. The trouble is they do not understand how Mr. Roosevelt works.

Mr. Hull is the hands-across-the-sea man of this administration. He is the brotherly love boy. The heavier duties devolve on the hard-boiled nationalist, Dr.

When President Roosevelt wanted to push his strong nationalprogram at London he sent Dr. Moley. Now that the purpose has been accomplished, Mr. Hull has been left there to salve the

The point is that each man has his particular job in the inside Each serves his purpose. Their duties rarely conflict. When they do, Dr. Moley can usually be found on top.

The new super-cabinet scheme was devised because of the confusion backstage here. During recent weeks it has been just like war-times.

Officials have been running around in all directions. A clear idea of what it was all about was lacking. There was no coordination anywhere.

The ice-pool went to one authority in the industrial control They were told the administration did not want a code for that industry. Later they saw another authority and he fold them the government did want an ice code. For days they did not know whether they were in or out of the setup. The soft drink people had exactly the same trouble.

A simple solution would have been to mix the ice and the soft drink and enjoy it. That is what the super-cabinet is supposed

TRICKS There are a lot of things the senate failed to find out about Wall Street. One is that orders frequently are placed to buy stocks far above the price they are quoted. The specialist in General Electric stock could have testified that when the stock was at 21, he had large orders to buy it as soon as The idea is that stocks have certain resistance levels. Certain purchasers were convinced that if General Electric ever passed 24, it would go to 30. It did. CODES General Johnson has been insisting he has 52 codes in his sleeve ready to start. They must consist largely of the type offered a few days ago by a contractor who strolled into Johnson's headquarters. This fellow submitted a code for the contracting industry of the United States. Investigation disclosed he was not yet a contractor, but only hoped to be. He was trying to get a contract from the government. He had neglected to consult the others in his industry

The code was solemnly filed away. NOTES Senator Glass must have heard about Professor Berle's. banking bill researches during his recent White House conference. Upon emerging, he said: "I cannot answer banking questions because I understand Berle is in charge of that now." The approval of Glass will be necessary in any changes the administration tries to make in the Glass law. . . .

The explanation that the two new brain trustees. Warren and Rodgers, are being employed to balance the budget was the first official suggestion that the budget is unbalanced. The fact is Warren and Rodgers have performed important services for the administration and never have received credit. That thought had more to do with their employment than the necessity of managing currency or converting short-term credits. Nothing especially new is to be undertaken by them. passing of prohibition. The answer is frightfully simple. He already has. In the upper crust of the underworld today bootleggers are as scarce as Hottentots in the United States sentition is too broad. Attempted en-forcement has waned, thus increasing the ease of distribution of liquor. The enforceability of law has been made doubtful in the mind of the profession-al criminal. That goes for all law, al criminal. That goes for all law, not just prohibition. As a result. He is still riding in his limousine.

penitentiary for comparatively minor offenses. They were, in the language of the gay nineties, "bums." They had no political influence, they controlled to pay tribute to thieves. offenses. They were, in the language of the gay nineties, "bums." They had no political influence, they controlled no profitable commercial activities, and they utterly lacked influence in the courts.

Became Powerful.

Prohibition changed that. With a source of supply was necessary. The gangster, being a naturally-inclined to see the working everator up into the web of steel where this man labored. When he faced them fearlessly they overpowered him; bent a forearm over a girder until it broke. In ten minutes not a workman was on the building, capitulated to the demands. Racket. Big money, Sapphires. Limousines. The bootlegger turning his trained hand to new vocations! When the case was mentioned as a matter for the courts not a single workman could identify the ganger.

workman could identify the gangsters who had maltreated the iron worker. Not a one. Not even the iron worker himself. Incredible? Perhaps. But re-member the iron worker had a wife. He had children. Gangsters all too terested in enforcing an unpopular law. The danger of prosecution was negligible but the danger of arrest was mighty. The difference is graft.

Could Pay Fee. often murder witnesses the A bootlegger caught plying his trade could pay his "legal fee" in advance to the arresting officer instead of to the court. This made him immune. Prosecution was nothing but persecution, and persecution was little enough so learn as you passed its cort slaps to they may be convicted. So everyone was mute. That was to protect wife and children; home and happiness. It is easier to pay, no matter who or what you are.

One of Hundreds. This actual case was detailed for me by the executive in charge of erect-ing the building. It is one of hundreds of identical import.

The business of the racket is just as wide-spread today as the business of the bootlegger was three years ago. This is not a comforting condition. On the band it is not half so bad the other hand it is not half so bad as it sounds. Put in a nut shell, the business of the gangster before pro-hibition was cheap and hazardous because its revenues were insufficient to pay for protection. The crime of vio-lence never in history has proven profitable. Burglars may rob a house prolitable. Burgiars may rob a nouse of nothing, but assume all the risk in the world. A hold up man may rob a pedestrian of a dollar or two. He faces the same penalty as if the pedestrian had had a great deal more. pedestrian had had a great deal more.

Crime is safe only when protected

the lifting of him from the status of an alley rat with a blackjack and a sweater to a boulevardier with a boutonnierre and a limousine. Inder the seat of the limousine was a machine gun. In the background was a shyster lawyer with a habeas corpus and a venal judge living on the fat of the land through bootleg bribes.

Now the change. Sentiment is routing prohibition. If it passes the United States will have an array of the most murderous bandits of modern Successful crime must be profitable on a great scale, to pay bribes, nur-ture corruption and hire skilled lawyers. Footpads cannot do that. Nei-ther can burglars, robbers petty thieves and the like. The gangster who became the bootlegger must now again become the gangster because he has never changed except in purse. He is the same old beetlebrow with a few new ideas conceived in bootleg gold; a few new ambitions certain to trip him up, a few confidences that will prove mantraps as his bootleg revenues change into those for which he must resort to violence.

There is a way and a simple way to rout the racketeer. It involves national action. It demands a unification of protective measures that never again become the gangster because he tion of protective measures that never can be subsidized by local politicians and criminals. So closely are these local politicians and criminals allied that the line of demarcation between them is often indistinguishable.

Can Break Tie Up. It is a deadly truth that the boot-legger never could have grown as he did without political protection he bought with bootleg money. It is a helpful truth that the passing of prohibition will enable honest offi-cials to break the tie-up between thief and cop and so disrupt the so-called gaugster organizations the country

The next few years will see tre mendous developments in American criminal codes and procedures. If some decent and sane social order is survive, these developments ready are appearing obvious in their emands.

The bootlegger who has turned rack eteer is on the way out. The speed of his exit will be commensurate with the speed of the social order in enact-ing simple and far-reaching measures for the establishment of order and the banishment of the worst criminals the United States ever has tolerated.

State Files Answer To New Highway Suit

Acting for Governor Eugene Tal-madge and his co-defendants, Adju-tant General Lindley W. Camp and Highway Commissioner J. P. Wilhoit, Attorney General M. J. Yeomans Wednesday filed an answer to the latest federal court plea for an injunc-tion halting the governor's military rule over the state highway depart-ment.

In his reply to the petition filed in half of Captain J. W. Barnett and J. C. Vereen, ousted commissioners. the attorney-general said the suit grew out of a political controversy and had no place in the federal courts. The case has been set for hearing before a three-judge court here on July 17.

"It's description of the life story from her. Her father, he knew, was still alive, and her mother, too. They had strenuously opposed allowing their only child to come to Hollywood, But in the end her persistence had won out.

Mary watched the changing expressions in Curt Little's face and grew more and more fascinated with him as the lights from the street played over his features. Had he ever been married? Maybe he'd been disappointed in love.

In a short while the car stopped in front of a restaurant in a quiet little street. A small sign announced that it was the L'Aiglon.

"I think you'll like the food here," Curt Little opened the door and helped Mary out gallantly. "It is a French restaurant and the cuisine is marvelous. All French coks and waiters—and a little I'rench orchestra."

"I've never been to a French restau-rant." Mary confessed naively. "It is and excitement.

"Oh. Mr. Little, you're the nicest man I've ever known in my life." She looked as though she were going to lean over and kiss him with gratitude. That was that! At least he had made the evening count—and foundout something that would help her in Hollywood. Further than that he had no plans. He was sparring for time. Waiting for a plan that would be the final crowning of his revense. It In a moment Mary was deeply engrossed in pouring out to Curt Little her plans for the future. He listened quietly and his mind was racing ahead, making plans. She looked across the table naively: final crowning of his revenge. It might take time. But he had waited 20 years and he still had a little patience left.
"I think," he said shortly after,

"we'll get this little lady home early tonight. You look a little tired, my dear. I'm afraid I've been keeping you out too late for one of your tender years."

"Well. I did." Mary nodded emphatically. "Every stitch of them, even my hats. This dress cost me less than $3. And my hat less than Mary was anxious to get homemore auxious than she realized. Perhaps there would be a telephone call from Tommy.

"You look," he said truthfully, "more attractively dressed than any woman we've met in our three evenings together in Hollywood. I thought you were an heiress."

Mary flushed with pleases."

Thou loomny.

Freckle was surprised when Mary came in at 10 o'clock. She was radiant with the news that Curt Little had promised—maybe—to help her find a job.

"This is your lucky day." Freckle.

"This is your lucky day." Freckle grinned widely and reached into her apron pocket. "Open your hand and shut your eyes."

Mary obeyed and Freckle thrust a Mary flushed with pleasure at the thrilling compliment, coming from a thrilling compliment, coming from a millionaire.

"It makes me very happy to have you say I look all right," she leaned close to him, "because you really know. I wasn't quite sure in Mill-stream whether I'd come up here and look like a homespun orphan or not."

Secretary Roper, of the commerce department, said he expected a recommendation to be made by Johnson on this next week.

A new question arose for the ad-President Roosevelt appealed to the farmer to give his full support to the program, and warned him he might ministrator in getting into operation the cotton textile code, promulgated to take effect July 17. The presi-dent attached many conditions in ap-proving it: He prescribed that white expect to suffer lower prices if he failed to do so. A little more than 5,000,000 acres had been pledged by that time, after an intensive 10-day the wage and hour prescriptions; that no "stretch-out" system be imposed to make mill workers do more labor under the new scales; and that the ratio between minimum wage earners and campaign to secure reduction contracts.

Traders on the New Orleans exchange that day predicted what would happen if the cotton farmer failed to cut acreage would not be pleasant. cut acreage would not be pleasant, and cited statistics to show that big crops are always associated with big slumps in prices. They also pointed oft that the largest carryover in history, 12,000,000 bales, still hung over the cotton market like a pall. What would happen in the event of a 15. between minimum wage earners and the higher grades be maintained by raises for the higher. Reports spread in the industry that Johnson would not require these presidential prescriptions to be effected at the same time as the terms subscribed to in the code proper. This was denied. In prospect is a conference, probably this week to derise methods of putting the whole thing in order for a start next Monday.

The possibility existed, nevertheless, that not everything could be worked out within the short time. Johnson is opposed to narrow interpretations and if reasonable cause for delays developed, it was believed here Reports spread in the industry that the cotton market like a pall. What would happen in the event of a 15,000,000-bale crop, to which all indicators pointed, they predicted would be disastrous. They stated plainly it was "up to the farmer" to make his choice—lower prices for more cotton, or more money for less cotton.

King Cotton has come back. SPECTACULAR RISE MADE BY NEW YORK COTTON

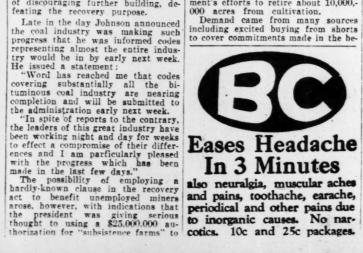

The shipbuilding men in support of their 40-hour week plan argued that the recovery law ran for only two years; that naval building under present contracts would run to three years and that the yards would be unduly penalized by the 30-hour plan.

Furthermore, they said, construction and repair work, naval and private, was inextricably intertwined in each yard. Riveters would be shifted frequently from a naval job to something else. One working hour plan would have to cover both public and private work. If 30 hours were adopted, they said, the costs for private work would go up to the point of discouraging further building, defeating the recovery purpose.

It is not likely that a man loves a woman "really and truly" when he takes up her time, claims her love, and offers nothing in return burgs so feely that it cannot light and warm the future is not worth wasting time on. Some woman will be able to close his eyes to all the marital tragedies around him. When you have satisfied yourself that you are not the woman to do it, then let him go find "her." CAROLINE CHATFIELD.

Dear Caroline Chatfield:

parasite and a blind parasite as well who will sit around and enjoy the comforts and never see the work it takes to have these, who complains of having to do things, or doesn't do them, who has been used to the best room, the best food and lets you know often, who never lets you enjoy a quiet chat with your best friend alone but takes pains to be on hand and take part in all conversations. I believe every homeless woman could find a home where she would not feel herself dependent if she would give half the thought to pleasing the people she lives with that she does to pleasing her office boss. LAST SERVICES HELD

FOR JOHN H. MARTIN

Dear Miss Chatfield:

"Maitre Bolbec et son Mari," is the title of a three-act comedy which will be given as one of the final programs of the Institut Francais at Emory University on Monday evening at 8 o'clock in the auditorium on the campus. The cast includes gifted players from Atlanta. Gordon Stipe, a member of the group of Emory Players, is stage manager.

Mrs. Hal Davison will play the role of Maitre Bolbec who is a woman lawyer and the heroine of the play. She has become so engrossed in her profession that she has neglected her husband and household to such an extent that the linen is worn out, the cook discharged, and the husband sees her only in passing. The husband, played by Charles Loridans, finally gets an interview by taking his place with the other clients in the anteroom and paying 200 francs for an interview in which he tells her that he will do something desperate unless she gives up her profession and devotes herself to him and the household. Cecile, played by Mrs. Germaine Brown, comes as a client to Maitre Bolbec to get a divorce from her husband. Monsieur Bolbec meets her at his wife's office and brings his wife to her senses by a love affair with Cecile. In the meantime the secretary of Maitre Bolbec, Valentin, played by Professor W. A. Strozier, falls in love with Rebiscoul, played by George Raffalovich, a very honorable fellow

"Birthday Feastival" was a play presented at Camp Civitania on Tuesday evening, celebrating the camp's birthday. Each year the campers entertain members of the Civitan Club in order to celebrate another birthday of their beautiful camp. This year marks the ninth of these happy eccasions.

ne takes up her time, claims her love, and offers nothing in return but vaporous and unsubstantial protestations of affection. A man truly in love with a woman believes in his power to make her happy and in hers to make him happy. While he looks on other marriages that have gone on the rocks, he believes that there is some quality inherent in his love for her and in hers for him that will be a guarantee of life-long bliss. Ludwig Lewisohn has said that one of the most pathetic features of romantic love is that firm belief on the part of the lovers that they can always keep love's illusion held high above the desecrating hand of reality. There is no real love without this faith. The man whose flame of love burns so feebly that it rannot light and warm the future is not worth casions.
The Civitans come in the afternoon, remain for dinner, and after-wards the play is given by camp fire in the rustic amphitheater. Those in the rustic amphitheater. Thos taking part in "Birthday Feastival" were head page, Patricia Stewart; head page's double, Betty Weinstock; two royal candle lighters, Janet All-corn and Jane Hawk; the king him-Jean Chalmers; king's escorts, red Woodard and Elizabeth n; the queen herself, Marion Oli-the train bearers, Laura Palmer ver; the train bearers, Laura Palmer and Betty Lester; ten court visitors, Helen Philips, Charlotte Galbraith, Mildred Cooke, Frances McNamara, Jane Kohl, Marguerite Jernigan and Catherine Gibson; the royal baker, Eleanor Troutman; first garland bearer, Mary Jane Campbell; second garland bearer, Alice Johnson; four cake bearers, Betty Ann Warburton, Dagmar Peterson, Kate Hines and Mable Markowitz; a very small brownie, Nell Hardy; campers, Mary Ann Hilburn, Frances Mayo, Harriett Ramsey, Mary Katherine Reeves. The Civitan president, Herbert Porter, gave the Civitan greeting. SAFELY!

Imagine Eleanor's relief, then, when she received a letter from an aunt living in the country. "I was wondering," so the letter ran. "whether you and Frank would care to take my house here for a year or two. I have to help out at my daughter's home in the city. I don't want to leave the house untenanted. If you could manage to pay $25 a month rent I could move out with an easy mind."

Would they take it? The answer was in the mail 24 hours after the invitation was received.

The house looked discouraging at first, but soon they both saw possibilities.

They chose a rather small figured

SAFELY:

The quickest way to get rid of any headache has always been to take a powder. And here is a headache powder that is not only speedy, but entirely safe. Dr. Caldwell's prescription powders do not cause unpleasant after-effects. They are not a narcotic, yet they soothe the nervous system. They act rapidly, relieving a splitting headache or even severe neuralgic pains within a few minutes of taking. And cost you less than the slower powders! A packet of three powders! A packet of three powders for a dime!—(adv.)

Mr. Tilden Was Mistaken About Women Tennis Players

Despite the harsh pronouncements of Mr. William Tilden, who used to speak very harshly indeed of women in tennis, the young ladies seem to be going right along.

At least they were Wednesday as they began play in the Southern amateur tennis tournament. The competition, while it lacks some of the power displayed in the men's competition, is nevertheless spirited and not without its lighter moments.

The better players, tanned, muscled and thewed, go about their game with all the sangfroid of the experienced masculine Watching them, I would say that the quality of mercy is a bit strained. It falleth not as the gentle rain from Heaven. This is a quality which should have no place in competition but somehow one expects it from the ladies. There is no reason to expect it, the expectation being supported only by an outmoded tradition,

The novices who appeared Wednesday were quickly and mercilessly dispatched. One lovely young thing appeared for a second-round match. In the morning she had won from a young lady of about her own ability.

In the afternoon she was matched with one of the tanned, thewed and muscled young ladies who go from tournament to tournament. It was evident that she did not care for the match. But she obeyed the code and

"Mother," she said timidly, "was so embarrassed she wouldn't come to see me lose."

The situation would have permitted of a good score, but the tanned and muscled young lady won as quickly as possible.

The real feminine competitors have the instinct to get rid of an opponent as quickly as possible. This is the ideal competitive instinct which is, at best, a cruel and ruthless one.

One veteran correspondent got up and left rather hurriedly. He happened to be sitting next to one of the young ladies. A match was just completed.

The young lady on the bench nudged a girl friend next to her and said, "See that girl who just won? I get her to-

And then she grinned and drew a finger across her throat, significantly, going, "Skkkkkkkkk" as the finger

The correspondent, his blood curdled, left in a hurry. They display a great deal of stamina, bounding and leaping about with all the grace and skill of an adagio dancer.

One rather sympathized with a young husband who was watching the matches.

"I am bringing my wife tomorrow," he said. "I go home and find her worn out and exhausted from getting dinner. I am going to bring her out and let her watch one of these girls bound through two tough matches. One of these girls could carry a whole dinner up to the top of a skyscraper and still

APPEAR BEAUTIFUL—BE STRONG.

The feminine athletes are even more of a mystery than the non-feminine ones. Most of them appear meticulously dressed with little feminine ribbons stuck here and there about the costume and with the hair in waves, the fingernails tinted.

They appear as fragile young things who would be lost in competitive sport. Yet on the court they volley and back-hand well.

It so happened that I was sitting in a group of young ladies

"Girls always play well with the back-hand," they said, "because they are used to giving each other so many back-handed compliments."

In commenting on the manner of dress, the group said. "The hig idea is to appear as naive and cute as possible but to actually be as strong and ruthless as a pirate.'

Very interesting-the feminine side of the tournament.

A GREAT FINISH.

After watching the young ladies in competition at the Piedmont Driving Club courts, the masculine side of the tournament appeared rather tame.

Henry Prusoff, the Seattle (Wash.) player, whom the boys have named "Prussic Acid," was having a difficult time with Bob Little, the Georgia Tech instructor.

The score was 6-2, 6-3, but each game was close. The finish came with the most dazzling bit of tennis the tournament has yet offered, a brilliant exchange of volleys close with each player at mid-court. "Prussic Acid" Prusoff finally shot one by to end it amidst thunderous applause from the gallery.

Prusoff and Bryan Grant play today and there is a match which should be included on your shopping list for the day. Prusoff is champion of the north coast and Grant is one of the ranking national stars.

The tournament has reached the stage where every match is an excellent one. But the Grant-Prusoff engagement is cer- Riders To Test tainly one of the major attractions.

The lodge and the course are located in the center of the old Cherokee Indian section. The mountains there were the source of many Indian stories of princesses and gallant braves.

The course was placed along the mountain top. It descends into valleys and climbs the mountain side.

It is always an attractive course and an attractive tournament. Bob Martin is in charge this year and he has made the course even finer than it was. Many Atlantans are expected to be entered when the tournament begins today.

Southern Takes Prize In Player Consistency

By Jimmy Jones.

The statistics, in case you trust them, show little, if any diminution in the caliber of hitters and pitchers in this year's Southern league race and those who set the pace over the same period in the season of 1932. In several cases, they are the same hitters and pitchers, for the Southern is more or less noted for retaining its quota of the consistent veterans who find the league's tempo to their liking and manage to retain their jobs against the annual spring rush of the rookies.

There are, however, some new names and faces in the sextet of leaders taken from the two rival departments of the last and present leaders taken from the two rival departments of the last and present seasons, as shown through averaages up to the corresponding date of July 9, the last issue of 1933.

One finds that "Red" Allington, the Knoxville outfielder who led the Western league in hitting last year is leading this league, also, with an average of 391 in 172 games. Abner Wright, of Little Rock, another newcomer, who has a couple of minor league batting championships to his credit already, has pushed his way into third place, three points behind Peck Hamel, with 380. Team Plays Tonight.

Atlanta's two-year hunt for a relief pitcher with staying qualities in the box was fulfilled, for the time being, at least, with yesterday's announcement that Andy Messenger, ace of the 1932 Cracker staff, but an uncertain starter this year, had been swapped off to New Orleans for Carlos Moore, also a righthander. also a righthander.

straight victory by beating St. Louis, 4 to 2, in the second game of their series. Ben Chapman led the New York offensive with four singles for a perfect day at bat, and his mate. Tony Lazzeri connected with a double and two singles. The Yanks made 10 hits off Ed Wells, while Johnnie Allem held the Browns to seven. St. Louis contributed two errors.

Philadelphia kept pace with the Yanks by scoring its second consecutive victory over Cleveland, 6 to 4, after Jimmy Foxx started a three-run rally in the sixth with his 25th homer of the season. Rube Walberg allowed the Indians 10 safeties, but kept them widely distributed. In addition, his triple in the sixth accounted for two runs. The Athletics found Hildebrand, Hudlin and Bean for 12 hits. Hudlin hit a four-bagger in the fifth.

TAKEN BY STAR IN DAY'S PLAY

Wins With McDiarmid in Doubles; Grant, Prusoff, Barr Advance

By Jack Troy.

The insouciance and stamina of Lefty Bryan, of Chattanooga, seeded No. 2, amazed a large gallery yester day as the well-knit southpaw, two days late in arriving, stroked through three singles matches and a firstround doubles match in the southern amateur tennis tournament Wednes day at the Biltmore Club. When Lefty had ended the day's play, which seemed to have no effect whatsoever on his stamina, he asked Robert Jackson, secretary of the Bift-more Club and official referee of the Southern Lawn Tennis Association, if he was caught up.

"If not," Bryan said, "I am ready and waiting."

There is an old bromide that goes "I'll meet you at the stockyards; wear your hat so I'll know you."

WEARS CAP.

Lefty Bryan wears a cap. The way he wears his cap lets one know that Lefty Bryan doesn't care whether it rains or shines. He does not have to wear a cap so you will know him, because there is no mistaking the phlegmatic Tennessean.

He doesn't worry about errors or faults. He takes the game as it comes, accepting bad breaks with a grin and points with good grace.

Somehow Lefty Bryan reminds you of Peck's Bad Boy. He has established himself, without trying, as one of the tournament's most popular and colorful players.

The ranks of the favorites presented an unbroken front at the conclusion of Wednesday's play.

VINES, VAN RYN,

American Net Stars Meet Winner of England-Australia Match.

By Wallace Carroll,

United Press Staff Correspondent. PARIS, July 12.—(UP)—The United States Davis cup team which will meet the winner of the England-Australia tie for the right to challenge France for the classic trophy will be composed of Ellsworth Vines, Wilmer Allison, George Lott and Johnny Van Ryn, Bernon Prentice of the United States cup committee, told the United Press today. "Vines and Allison will handle the "Vines and Allison will handle the single sassignments and Lott and Van Ryn the doubles," Prentice said. "We did consider allowing Allison to play in the singles and then team with Lott in the doubles, but finally decided three straights days of play was too much for any man. Individually, Lott and Van Ryn are as fine doubles players as the game knows. All they need to knit into a smoothworking combination is work. We have arranged for them to get it, too, in a series of exhibition matches. On in a series of exhibition matches. On Friday they will play the French team of Martin Legeay and Robert Journau and the South African combination of Virgil Kirby and Norman Farquharson. On Saturday George and Johnny will engage another French team, Andre Merlin and Marcel Ber-nard. The showing the boys make in these exhibitions will not affect our Prentice asked to be excused when asked his opinion on the outcome of the England-Australia European zone final which begins tomorrow.

"Both are very strong teams, In Austin and Perry England has two of the finest players in the world. And both are noted for their ability to lift themselves on great occasions. In Crawford, Australia has a master the mater and a player of shot-maker, and a player of great courage."

Prentice was asked which of the two teams he thought would give the United States the hard fight. Again he had no choice.

He was asked how he thought Vines would fare with Crawford in their next meeting.

"They are such great players that They are such great players that the outcome would depend largely on which happened to be having his day. When Crawford defeated Vines at Wimbledon he was in magnificent condition, and all his shots were working perfectly. Maybe the next time Vines will have one of his super-days, and then he'd be unbeatable."

BRAVES DEFEAT The West Side Braves sent the Frankenstein Lazenby pulled the hero stunt again for the Grant Park Aces when his team defeated the Adair team, 11-8, at Adair park. Besides allowing only seven hits, he did a masterpiece of stick work, making five hits out of five tries, which included a home run, a triple, two doubles and a single.

Lambin Brantly scored a one-hit game against the Chosewood Wildcats as the Cubs rang up their fourth victory, defeating the Wildcats 8-0. The first Wildcat to face Brantly was the player credited with stealing a no-hit, no-run game from Brantly.

The Southside Robins defeated the Grant Park Indians, 9-1. Pope pitched a good game for the Cubs, giving up only five hits and fanning 12 men.

Jimmy Foxx Hits His 25th Home Run

PHILADELPHIA, July 12.—(P)— Jimmy Foxx, leading home-run hit-ter of the major leagues, today hit his twenty-fifth four-bagger of the season for the Philadelphia Athletics. The homer came in the sixth inning of the game with the Cleveland In-dians, with no one on base.

Ring Cards

Consolidation of shows of the Brookhaven arena with those of the Buckhead arena, at Buckhead, has been announced for Thursday nights, the bouts to be staged under joint promotership.

Fast matches are promised in the show tonight, with Oscar Williamson, Atlanta businessman wrestler, and Bill Cruselle, of Birmingham, winner of the wrestle-royal at Arondale last week, headlining the card in a 90-minute best-two-opt-of-three-falls.

BOWLING

A mixed "blind pig" duckpin sweepstakes is slated for Saturday night at Blick's bowling center with an equal number of ladies and men scheduled to participate, so that after the three games have been bowled and the drawing is made, a man and a lady will be scoring for each team. This event will not supplant other matches that have been staged, but will be a novel feature of the evening.

ences, remains to be seen.

Mid-week business news provided reports of rising activity. Steel operations have risen to 59 per cent of rated capacity, a lift of 3 percentage points in the past week. New business, Iron Age said, has tapered off, as was to be expected in view of the rush that accompanied the second quarter's close, but "a renewed flow of specifications is assured" before the end of July.

ter's close, specifications is assured before the end of July.

Electric power output has been rising for 10 consecutive weeks; last week's gain of 14.7 over a year ago was the best yet reported, though Indedependence Day's intervention made the total smaller than for the immediately preceding period. Improvement was particularly noticeable in the south.

was particularly south.

The boom in automobile manufacture received further confirmation from the statistics for June outturn of cars and trucks. The total. excluding Ford, was 195,178 units, or 13 per cent better than May and about double June, 1932. The gain for the first six months ran some 17 per cent over last year's period.

FURTHER GAIN SHOWN IN STEEL PRODUCTION

NEW YORK, July 12.—(P)-Al-NEW YORK, July 12. (A)—Al-though new business in iron and steel has shown an expected recession, Iron Age said today that pressure for ship-ments is unrelaxed and ingot produc-tion has risen from 56 to 59 per cent of capacity.

of capacity.
"Even if the present lull in new purchases should continue," stated the review, "tonnage hooked by the mills for July shipment is sufficient to maintain production at an undiminished rate through this month and part of August."

ATLANTA SPOT COTTON. Atlanta spot cotton closed strong, 90 points up, at 11.45. Receipts, 206; shipments, 583; stocks, 216,149.

NEW YORK, July 12.-(P)-Cotton soared nearly a cent a pound today on reports from Washington on reports from Washington pointing to a successful fulfillment of the acreage curtailment campaign.

The upsurge marked the return of 12-cent cotton for the first time since March, 1931. October deliveries closed at 11.70. The general market closed strong at net advances of 83 to 89.

Initial prices were off 6 to 13 points on rather disappointing Liverpool cables. Some southern selling was also reported but offerings were absorbed by further trade buying and covering.

Reports of continued dry, hot weather in the southwest also encouraged buying and the market worked quite steadily upward, with the demand becoming active and excited in the late trading. December advanced from 10.87, the early low price, to from 10.87, the early low price, to Closing prices were at approximately the best of the day on most of the active months.

Washington reports quoting Sec-

Washington reports quoting Secretary of Agriculture Wallace as believing that the campaign to destroy some 10,000,000 acres of cotton had been successful were considered the chief factor on the late advance. Exports today 4,073, making 8,905,520 so far this season. Port receipts 11,063. United States port stocks 3,314,312.

Liverpool cables reported a quiet market there, with trade buying supplied by moderate liquidation. Houses with both Liverpool and continental connections were credited with buying here during the early trading.

GRAINS AIDED BY RAINS,

WASHINGTON, July 12.—(P)—

The weather bureau in its weekly crop review said today that rains over much of the corn belt and the small grain growing area aided crops during the past week, while the cotton belt continued in need of moisture.

Warm weather with only scattered showers prevailed in the western cotton belt, it said, while moderately low temperatures with better distributed moisture was the rule in the eastern half. In the cotton sections of Texas and Oklahoma drouthy conditions continued with high temperatures adding to the damage.

Rains in areas where wheat and other small grains are grown came too late to aid the crop substantially. In the spring wheat region of South Dakota the rains were too late to be of much benefit, the bureau said, while in North Dakota deterioration continued with some local sections in both states improved by showers.

In Montana spring wheat contin-

SHARES ON CURB FIRM AT CLOSE

By BERNARD S. O'HARA.

NEW YORK, July 12.—(P)—Wide spurts in distillery issues and other specialties featured trading on the specialties featured trading on the industrials were indifferent but the closing tone of the market was firm on a late demand for a variety of shares.

A few industrials were reactionary at times. Aluminum Company of America was off 3 points.

On the other hand, Dow Chemical soared 10 to close at 75, while Armstrong Cork was in good demand.

Among the "weets" gains of 4 to 6 were recorded in Hiram Walker and the Canadian Industrial Alcohol issues. Distillers Corporation-Seagrams firmed 21-2.

Utilities closed higher, although accordance of the restricted.

ed 21-2. Utilities closed higher, although activity was rather restricted. Elec-tric Bond & Share gained a major fraction.

Oils were steady to slightly higher.

Mining issues were improved, Newmont advancing 2. Transfers increased to 1,004,000 shares compared to 859,000 for Tuesday.

Culbertson on Contract

The Danger of Delay

BY ELY CULBERTSON, Greatest Card Analyst. World's Champion Player and

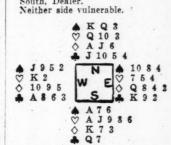

Few Bridge players appreciate the importance of the time factor both in attack and defense at Contract Bridge. Quite often the timing of trick taking by the Declarer is the decisive factor in the fulfillment of a contract. It is particularly important in the matter of Forced Lead plays, where the moment that a chosen adversary is saddled with the lead must be carefully determined if one is to realize the advantage of the maneuver.

On the defending side the time when a trick should be taken is often based upon the factor of removing stoppers in one suit before the Declarer has the opportunity to estabparticularly important in the matter

The final contract was four hearts, though Mr. Jacobson states that he knows it should have been three notrump. Against this contract West opened the ten of diamonds, and when the Dummy was spread on the table Mr. Jacobson could see the possibility of losing two clubs, a diamond and a heart. He won the first trick with the King in his own hand and, correctly

Georgia Will Exceed Quota M'CULLOUGH MUST DE, In Cotton Plan, Says Truitt SUPREME COURT RULES

As the deadline on cotton reduction pledges approached, S. D. Truitt, Fulton county farm agent, Wednesday night, expressed confidence that Georgia will go beyond its quota in the administration's cotton acreage reduction plan.

The extension service of the University of Georgia at Athens an-nounced Wednesday that 72,063 cotton reduction contracts had been signed by Georgia growers involving 1,552,204 acres, of which 541,102 would be eliminated. The state's quota is 934,000 acres. J. Phil Campbell, in charge, asserted that the response of farmers in Georgia has been gratifying. He said that the figures. gratifying. He said that the figures quoted did not represent complete re-turns for the state as many contracts are being held by county farm agents

The figures represent $2,564,468 without options, and $3,740,-447 with options.

Mr. Truitt made his prediction on the state in general, despite the fact that Fulton county farmers had at that time pledged to retire only 3,064 of the county's quota, 8,081 acres. A large number of counties in Georgia pledged more than their quota, to close at midnight Wednesday. Dr. Campbell said that the majority of farmers have signed to take land out of production. Many of those failing to sign as reported by county agents are small growers who have planted without tertilizer and whose yield will not reach the minimum requirements of the allotment quota.

Dispatches from Washington quoted Secretary of Agriculture Wallace as saying that 5.566,169 acres had been signed for until last Saturday and that unless this figure was doubled by midnight Wednesday "we cannot proeed to put the program in opera-

Mr. Truitt Wednesday had received no word from Washington as to his course of action in the event the national quota is not reached. Washington dispatches said, however, that no extensions of time would be granted for farmers to sign the pledges.

It also was said that Secretary Wallace will not enter into the plan unless farmers in the cotton-growing states agree to reduce acreage at least 25 per cent of the total in production. It is not expected that the total of the pledges can be arrived at for som
